

2013 英语 (一) Part A · Text 4

精读全流程：原文、做题、笔译、订正、重做、选项与复读

文章主题	通读后用一句话自行概括
限时阶段	18-22 分钟：先看题干，不看选项；读文不查词
笔译阶段	按段笔译、按段核对；先写粗译，不追求参考译文式中文
重做阶段	全文核对完成后，统一重做 36-40 题
第二天	遮住译文重读、重做题、复查错因与替换词

连续干净原文用于真实检测；笔译原文用于逐段输出；原文修改页用于在英文上订正。答案与解析请对照纸质版。

1

1 限时第一读：先看 5 个英文题干，不看选项

用 1-2 分钟建立阅读导航；圈出特殊定位词与题型信号，不分析答案。

No.	Question stem – English only	Signal
36	Three provisions of Arizona's plan were overturned because they
37	On which of the following did the Justices agree, according to Paragraph 4?
38	It can be inferred from Paragraph 5 that the Alien and Sedition Acts
39	The White House claims that its power of enforcement
40	What can be learned from the last paragraph?

这一阶段只做三件事

标出生词但不停下；标出转折/因果/让步；读到相关段落才回来看选项。

我的英文题干导航标记

2

2 干净原文 A：限时读文

现在开始计时。此处没有结构、词义或逻辑提示；读到相应段落，就做相应题目。

[P1] On a five to three vote, the Supreme Court knocked out much of Arizona's immigration law Monday—a modest policy victory for the Obama Administration. But on the more important matter of the Constitution, the decision was an 8-0 defeat for the Administration's effort to upset the balance of power between the federal government and the states.

[P2] In Arizona v. United States, the majority overturned three of the four contested provisions of Arizona's controversial plan to have state and local police enforce federal immigration law. The Constitutional principles that Washington alone has the power to "establish a uniform Rule of Naturalization" and that federal laws precede state laws are noncontroversial. Arizona had attempted to fashion state policies that ran parallel to the existing federal ones.

[P3] Justice Anthony Kennedy, joined by Chief Justice John Roberts and the Court's liberals, ruled that the state flew too close to the federal sun. On the overturned provisions the majority held that Congress had deliberately "occupied the field" and Arizona had thus intruded on the federal's privileged powers.

[P4] However, the Justices said that Arizona police would be allowed to verify the legal status of people who come in contact with law enforcement. That's because Congress has always envisioned joint federal-state immigration enforcement and explicitly encourages state officers to share information and cooperate with federal colleagues.

[P5] Two of the three objecting Justices—Samuel Alito and Clarence Thomas—agreed with this Constitutional logic but disagreed about which Arizona rules conflicted with the federal statute. The only major objection came from Justice Antonin Scalia, who offered an even more robust defense of state privileges going back to the Alien and Sedition Acts.

[P6] The 8-0 objection to President Obama turns on what Justice Samuel Alito describes in his objection as "a shocking assertion of federal executive power". The White House argued that Arizona's laws conflicted with its enforcement priorities, even if state laws complied with federal statutes to the letter. In effect, the White House claimed that it could invalidate any otherwise legitimate state law that it disagrees with.

[P7] Some powers do belong exclusively to the federal government, and control of citizenship and the borders is among them. But if Congress wanted to prevent states from using their own resources to check immigration status, it could. It never did so. The Administration was in essence asserting that because it didn't want to carry out Congress's immigration wishes, no state should be allowed to do so either. Every Justice rightly rejected this remarkable claim.

2.2

第一次做题：作答 36-40 题

现在才看选项。先独立完成五道题；需要时回原文定位。

36. Three provisions of Arizona's plan were overturned because they

- [A] overstepped the authority of federal immigration law.
- [B] disturbed the power balance between different states.
- [C] deprived the federal police of Constitutional powers.
- [D] contradicted both the federal and state policies.

37. On which of the following did the Justices agree, according to Paragraph 4?

- [A] States' independence from federal immigration law.
- [B] Federal officers' duty to withhold immigrants' information.
- [C] States' legitimate role in immigration enforcement.
- [D] Congress's intervention in immigration enforcement.

38. It can be inferred from Paragraph 5 that the Alien and Sedition Acts

- [A] violated the Constitution.
- [B] stood in favor of the states.
- [C] supported the federal statute.
- [D] undermined the states' interests.

39. The White House claims that its power of enforcement

- [A] outweighs that held by the states.
- [B] is established by federal statutes.
- [C] is dependent on the states' support.
- [D] rarely goes against state laws.

40. What can be learned from the last paragraph?

- [A] Immigration issues are usually decided by Congress.
- [B] The Administration is dominant over immigration issues.
- [C] Justices wanted to strengthen its coordination with Congress.
- [D] Justices intended to check the power of the Administration.

3.1

第 1 段：逐句笔译与原文订正

直接在英文上标记主干和逻辑；长句留两行，短句留一行。

S1 On a five to three vote, the Supreme Court knocked out much of Arizona's immigration law Monday—a modest policy victory for the Obama Administration.

S2 But on the more important matter of the Constitution, the decision was an 8-0 defeat for the Administration's effort to upset the balance of power between the federal government and the states.

本段英语原文（按句分行）

S1 On a five to three vote, the Supreme Court knocked out much of Arizona's immigration law Monday—a modest policy victory for the Obama Administration.

S2 But on the more important matter of the Constitution, the decision was an 8-0 defeat for the Administration's effort to upset the balance of power between the federal government and the states.

段落中心思想（用一句话概括）

第 2 段：逐句笔译与原文订正

S1 In Arizona v.

S3 The Constitutional principles that Washington alone has the power to "establish a uniform Rule of Naturalization" and that federal laws precede state laws are noncontroversial.

S4 Arizona had attempted to fashion state policies that ran parallel to the existing federal ones.

S1 In Arizona v.

S2 United States, the majority overturned three of the four contested provisions of Arizona's controversial plan to have state and local police enforce federal immigration law.

S3 The Constitutional principles that Washington alone has the power to "establish a uniform Rule of Naturalization" and that federal laws precede state laws are noncontroversial.

S4 Arizona had attempted to fashion state policies that ran parallel to the existing federal ones.

3.3

第 3 段：逐句笔译与原文订正

直接在英文上标记主干和逻辑；长句留两行，短句留一行。

S1 Justice Anthony Kennedy, joined by Chief Justice John Roberts and the Court's liberals, ruled that the state flew too close to the federal sun.

S2 On the overturned provisions the majority held that Congress had deliberately "occupied the field" and Arizona had thus intruded on the federal's privileged powers.

本段英语原文（按句分行）

S1 Justice Anthony Kennedy, joined by Chief Justice John Roberts and the Court's liberals, ruled that the state flew too close to the federal sun.

S2 On the overturned provisions the majority held that Congress had deliberately "occupied the field" and Arizona had thus intruded on the federal's privileged powers.

段落中心思想 (用一句话概括)

3.4

第 4 段：逐句笔译与原文订正

直接在英文上标记主干和逻辑；长句留两行，短句留一行。

S1 However, the Justices said that Arizona police would be allowed to verify the legal status of people who come in contact with law enforcement.

S2 That's because Congress has always envisioned joint federal-state immigration enforcement and explicitly encourages state officers to share information and cooperate with federal colleagues.

本段英语原文（按句分行）

S1 However, the Justices said that Arizona police would be allowed to verify the legal status of people who come in contact with law enforcement.

S2 That's because Congress has always envisioned joint federal-state immigration enforcement and explicitly encourages state officers to share information and cooperate with federal colleagues.

段落中心思想 (用一句话概括)

3.5

第 5 段：逐句笔译与原文订正

直接在英文上标记主干和逻辑；长句留两行，短句留一行。

S1 Two of the three objecting Justices—Samuel Alito and Clarence Thomas—agreed with this Constitutional logic but disagreed about which Arizona rules conflicted with the federal statute.

S2 The only major objection came from Justice Antonin Scalia, who offered an even more robust defense of state privileges going back to the Alien and Sedition Acts.

本段英语原文（按句分行）

⁵¹ Two of the three objecting Justices—Samuel Alito and Clarence Thomas—agreed with this Constitutional logic but disagreed about which Arizona rules conflicted with the federal statute.

⁵² The only major objection came from Justice Antonin Scalia, who offered an even more robust defense of state privileges going back to the Alien and Sedition Acts.

段落中心思想（用一句话概括）

3.6

第 6 段：逐句笔译与原文订正

直接在英文上标记主干和逻辑；长句留两行，短句留一行。

S1 The 8-0 objection to President Obama turns on what Justice Samuel Alito describes in his objection as "a shocking assertion of federal executive power".

S2 The White House argued that Arizona's laws conflicted with its enforcement priorities, even if state laws complied with federal statutes to the letter.

S3 In effect, the White House claimed that it could invalidate any otherwise legitimate state law that it disagrees with.

本段英语原文 (按句分行)

S1 The 8-0 objection to President Obama turns on what Justice Samuel Alito describes in his objection as "a shocking assertion of federal executive power".

S2 The White House argued that Arizona's laws conflicted with its enforcement priorities, even if state laws complied with federal statutes to the letter.

S3 In effect, the White House claimed that it could invalidate any otherwise legitimate state law that it disagrees with.

段落中心思想 (用一句话概括)

3.7

第 7 段：逐句笔译与原文订正

直接在英文上标记主干和逻辑；长句留两行，短句留一行。

S1 Some powers do belong exclusively to the federal government, and control of citizenship and the borders is among them.

S2 But if Congress wanted to prevent states from using their own resources to check immigration status, it could.

S3 It never did so.

S4 The Administration was in essence asserting that because it didn't want to carry out Congress's immigration wishes, no state should be allowed to do so either.

S5 Every Justice rightly rejected this remarkable claim.

本段英语原文（按句分行）

S1 Some powers do belong exclusively to the federal government, and control of citizenship and the borders is among them.

S2 But if Congress wanted to prevent states from using their own resources to check immigration status, it could.

S3 It never did so.

S4 The Administration was in essence asserting that because it didn't want to carry out Congress's immigration wishes, no state should be allowed to do so either.

S5 Every Justice rightly rejected this remarkable claim.

段落中心思想（用一句话概括）

4

全文核对后：正式重做 36-40 题

再次独立作答。只看题干和选项；需要时回原文圈出定位句。

36. Three provisions of Arizona's plan were overturned because they

- [A] overstepped the authority of federal immigration law.
- [B] disturbed the power balance between different states.
- [C] deprived the federal police of Constitutional powers.
- [D] contradicted both the federal and state policies.

37. On which of the following did the Justices agree, according to Paragraph 4?

- [A] States' independence from federal immigration law.
- [B] Federal officers' duty to withhold immigrants' information.
- [C] States' legitimate role in immigration enforcement.
- [D] Congress's intervention in immigration enforcement.

38. It can be inferred from Paragraph 5 that the Alien and Sedition Acts

- [A] violated the Constitution.
- [B] stood in favor of the states.
- [C] supported the federal statute.
- [D] undermined the states' interests.

39. The White House claims that its power of enforcement

- [A] outweighs that held by the states.
- [B] is established by federal statutes.
- [C] is dependent on the states' support.
- [D] rarely goes against state laws.

40. What can be learned from the last paragraph?

- [A] Immigration issues are usually decided by Congress.
- [B] The Administration is dominant over immigration issues.
- [C] Justices wanted to strengthen its coordination with Congress.
- [D] Justices intended to check the power of the Administration.

5 原文 D：第二次做题后定位

先看解析，回原文再找一次定位句和同义替换。

[P1] On a five to three vote, the Supreme Court knocked out much of Arizona's immigration law Monday—a modest policy victory for the Obama Administration. But on the more important matter of the Constitution, the decision was an 8-0 defeat for the Administration's effort to upset the balance of power between the federal government and the states.

[P2] In Arizona v. United States, the majority overturned three of the four contested provisions of Arizona's controversial plan to have state and local police enforce federal immigration law. The Constitutional principles that Washington alone has the power to "establish a uniform Rule of Naturalization" and that federal laws precede state laws are noncontroversial. Arizona had attempted to fashion state policies that ran parallel to the existing federal ones.

[P3] Justice Anthony Kennedy, joined by Chief Justice John Roberts and the Court's liberals, ruled that the state flew too close to the federal sun. On the overturned provisions the majority held that Congress had deliberately "occupied the field" and Arizona had thus intruded on the federal's privileged powers.

[P4] However, the Justices said that Arizona police would be allowed to verify the legal status of people who come in contact with law enforcement. That's because Congress has always envisioned joint federal-state immigration enforcement and explicitly encourages state officers to share information and cooperate with federal colleagues.

[P5] Two of the three objecting Justices—Samuel Alito and Clarence Thomas—agreed with this Constitutional logic but disagreed about which Arizona rules conflicted with the federal statute. The only major objection came from Justice Antonin Scalia, who offered an even more robust defense of state privileges going back to the Alien and Sedition Acts.

[P6] The 8-0 objection to President Obama turns on what Justice Samuel Alito describes in his objection as "a shocking assertion of federal executive power". The White House argued that Arizona's laws conflicted with its enforcement priorities, even if state laws complied with federal statutes to the letter. In effect, the White House claimed that it could invalidate any otherwise legitimate state law that it disagrees with.

[P7] Some powers do belong exclusively to the federal government, and control of citizenship and the borders is among them. But if Congress wanted to prevent states from using their own resources to check immigration status, it could. It never did so. The Administration was in essence asserting that because it didn't want to carry out Congress's immigration wishes, no state should be allowed to do so either. Every Justice rightly rejected this remarkable claim.

全篇压缩与第二天复读

全文主题与作者态度（自己写）

- ☐ 我能用 30 秒说清全文主线：
- ☐ 我能遮住答案重做 36-40：
- ☐ 我仍会错 / 不顺的点：
- ☐ 下次遇到相似结构，我要先看：